Preface

Notation

The following information is included for each question:

- Variable name
- Question text and, if applicable, instructions for completion
- Response format; at the end of the question, special features in the answer format are noted, for example mandatory responses, permitted value ranges for open entries and dropdown menus

Question display

The presentation of questions in the codebook is not identical to the respondents' view of the questionnaire. For an impression of the questionnaire layout, please refer to the screenshots.

All questions were programmed with responsive design, meaning that scales are displayed differently on large and small screens. On large screens, most scales are displayed horizontally, while on small screens (for example, smartphones) they appear vertically. Item batteries are split into single items on small screens with answer scales displayed vertically.
